

Re-scripting Process

Write down the old story about an event that keeps coming up in the conversations with others or with yourself.

Then write a new uplifting story about the same event, stating the life lessons you learned and how differently you feel about it now.

Of course, restrict yourself from repeating the old story and, if you have to, start telling the new story instead.

Old story:

New Story:

Lira Kay She's Got Passion, 2016 all rights reserved